

2nd CINCH-dggö Academy in Health Economics

Themes: “The economics of mental health & Recent developments in difference-in-differences estimation”

August 19 – August 23, 2024

CINCH, University of Duisburg-Essen

We are proud to launch the second edition of the CINCH-dggö Academy in Health Economics focusing this year on the “economics of mental health” and recent “developments in difference-in-differences methods”. The workshop is jointly organised by CINCH, the national research centre for health economics at the University of Duisburg-Essen, and the dggö, the German Society for Health Economics.

The workshop will bring together a group of junior and senior researchers to share a week of expert lectures, research presentations, and special sessions. Expert lectures on the economics of mental health will be given by Meltem Daysal (University of Copenhagen) and on recent developments in difference-in-differences estimation by Andrew Goodman-Bacon (Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis). Special sessions include a “Meet the Editor” session with Manisha Shah, editor at the Journal of Health Economics and professor at the University of California (Berkeley), and sessions on academic publishing, the academic job market, and speed networking with senior researchers. Each day will conclude with an attractive social and cultural program.

Target audience: PhD students and early career postdocs working on health economics and closely related topics. Only 21 students will be admitted.

Seniors speakers for special sessions: Libertad González (Universitat Pompeu Fabra), Martin Halla (University of Linz), Annika Herr (University of Hannover), Hendrik Schmitz (University of Paderborn), Bettina Siflinger (Tilburg University).

Best Paper Award: A prize of EUR 500 and publication in the CINCH working paper series will be awarded to the best paper of the workshop.

Registration fees: EUR 350; exemptions available for participants from low-income countries. Fees cover accommodation, lunches and dinners, and the social and cultural program—conditional on attending the entire workshop. Please indicate if you need assistance with travel costs.

Application: We accept all submissions within health economics, particularly those aligning with our core themes. To apply, send your CV and a full paper to cinch.academy@wiwinf.uni-due.de. We strongly encourage female students and students from disadvantaged backgrounds to apply.

Local organiser: Contact Daniel Kühnle, University of Duisburg-Essen, if you have any questions!

Deadline for applications: 30 April 2024

Notification of Acceptance: 17 May, 2024
